Become a CWRS System Integrator
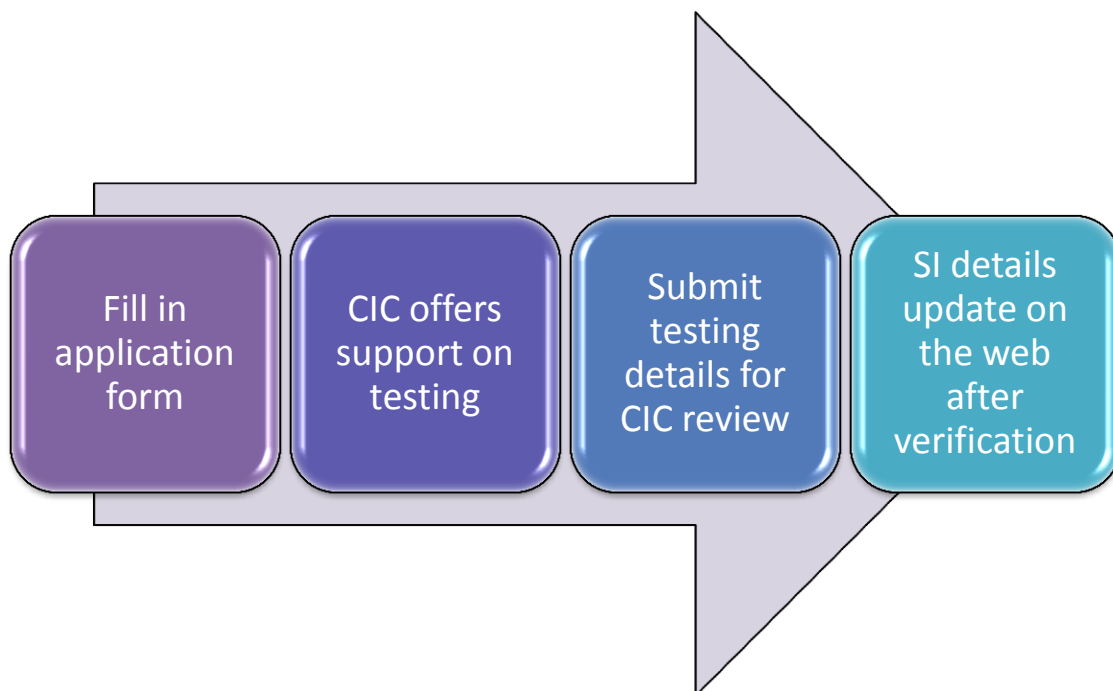

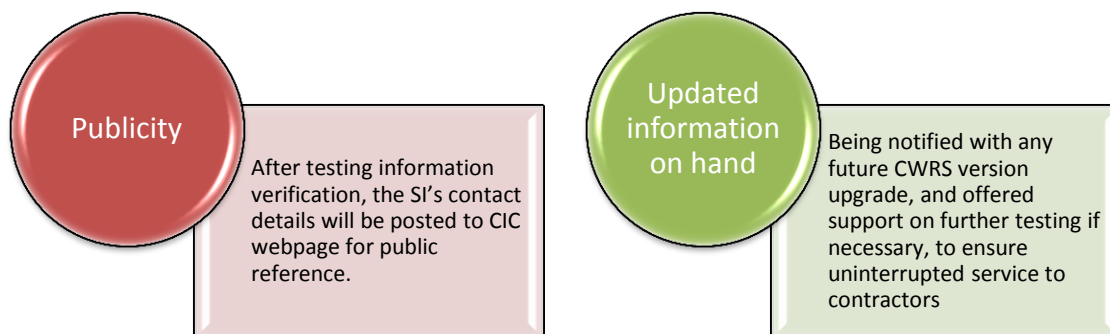

CWRS System Integration

The CWRS is a unified platform for managing and submitting workers' daily attendance record (DAR). For enhanced site control or compliance of contract requirements, some contractors would adopt other solutions (e.g. biometrics) in addition to the CWRS. To cope with different operational models of contractors, the CWRS is designed with a feature to facilitate system integration with varied solutions. The principle of this initiative is "to collaborate and support system integrators desiring to offer added value service or solutions to contractors in using CWRS."

Fill in application form	CIC offers support on testing	Submit testing details for CIC review	SI details update on the web after verification

How to become a CWRS System Integrator

System Integrators can submit their solution information to the CIC using the application form. The CIC would support the solution providers to test the integration. Information of the System Integrator would be posted to the CIC website for public information after successful testing and result verification. Please click here for the updated list of CWRS System Integrator with successful integration result.

| Publicity | After testing information verification, the SI's contact details will be posted to CIC webpage for public reference. | Updated information on hand | Being notified with any future CWRS version upgrade, and offered support on further testing if necessary, to ensure uninterrupted service to contractors |

Benefit of becoming a CWRS System Integrator

By joining this integration test and submitting valid information for CIC's review, those SIs who successfully have their integration data verified will have their company name and details posted in the CIC related webpage to recognize their successful integration result with CWRS. In addition, all CWRS System Integrator will be notified with any future CWRS version upgrade, and arrange for further testing if necessary.

Contact us

If you have any questions regarding the steps to become a CWRS System Integrator, please feel free to contact our CWRS helpdesk support at 2100-9863 or by email at cwrs_helpdesk@cic.hk